FORMATION OF THE CONCEPT OF REPRODUCTIVE HEALTH IN THE CONTEXT OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN THE INTERNATIONAL LEGAL PRACTICE: PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION ASPECT

The article examines the activity of the international human rights organizations and governments of the most developed countries in the world in the sphere of decision of population issues in the context of the struggle for reproductive rights of mankind. It is emphasized that reproductive rights are legal rights and freedoms related to reproduction and reproductive health rights. They are based on the recognition of the basic right of all couples and individuals to determine freely and responsibly the number, interval and timing of birth of their children and to have the information and means to act accordingly, and the right to achieve the highest possible level of sexual and reproductive health. It is proved that without the active intervention of the state in interaction with civil society organizations the issue of reproductive health of any nation is impossible to solve.
